Authorities Scour East For McBride

An elusive Daniel Jerome McBride, 31, coin dealer from Atlanta, Georgia, and lately of Reading, Pennsylvania, wanted on a series of mail fraud complaints, has been traced to the Pittsburgh area, according to investigators.

The list of investigators seeking McBride include the Reading police, the Reading postal department, the Atlanta, Georgia, postal department, the metropolitan Washington, D. C. missing persons bureau and the Federal Bureau of Investigation!

F.B.I. officials want McBride for a "talk." Other authorities have warrants for his arrest on mail fraud.

McBride disappeared in Washington, D. C., last May, with a reported $15,000 in funds. A series of complaints from a series of alleged unfilled transactions and bad checks launched the postal investigation.

Widow Gives Collection To Friends

Mrs. Paul F. Schilling, of Detroit, whose husband died from a heart attack during the convention he headed in the Motor City November 22-24, has made a gesture that is typical and worthy of the beloved numismatist — she has given away all of his numismatic materials so others can carry on the heritage.

"Paul was the only collector in the family," said his sorrowing wife as she begins the task of acknowledging the hundreds of messages of condolences that have poured into their home.

"But I will never forget my very dear and kind friends and the many nice things everyone did for our whole family."

Mrs. Schilling recounted how much the world of numismatics meant to her husband, and that is why she lost no time distributing his collection and accessories to his friends.

"From the day he started he studied the science," she recalled. "He read everything he could so he could help himself and understand and help others."

"He died among the people he loved the best . . . I know what wonderful friends we both made . . . and I thank them for the kindness and consideration during our sorrow," she said.

A.N.A. Committee To Study Laws Affecting Numismatics

A special committee of qualified numismatists from the American Numismatic Association membership is being formed to study how existing laws can be clarified for the "mutual benefit and protection" of the coin collector and federal enforcement agencies.

Formation of the committee is the outgrowth of a luncheon conference in Washington attended by William Brett, director of the Mint; Dr. F. Leland Howard, assistant director of the Mint; Rear Admiral O. H. Dodson, USN (Ret), president of the A.N.A., and C. C. Shroyer, the A. N. A.'s first vice president.

Described as an "informal" conference, the meeting took place during the October conven-

Shreveport Dealer Robbed On Nov. 26

Burglary involving a quarter of a ton in coins valued at $69,636 at the home of Coin Dealer T. A. Bridges, Shreveport, Louisiana, on November 26, is being investigated by the Caddo parish sheriff's department, according to information furnished Coin World by Sheriff J. H. Flournoy.

The coins, authorities said, were kept in a small room off Bridges' office, directly behind his home.

Entrance was gained through a window by prying off the screen, opening the window locks with a screw driver, and then prying off the door to the coin room.

Bridges discovered the theft early in the morning when he heard the slam of his office door.

The dealer who is also a contractor and builder said a burglar would have to be in the coin room more than half an hour to remove 440 pounds of coins.

Loss of the coins is partially covered by insurance.

Coins taken were: 196 rolls of 1950-D nickels; 412 rolls 1952-D nickels; 93 rolls of 1955-P nickels, one roll set of nickels, 1931 through 1959; two roll sets of dimes, 1946-1959.

Sheriff's authorities were checking with Shreveport metropolitan police about an earlier robbery in the area; Key Glass and Coin Company reported a coin loss by theft on November 22.

tion of the Middle Atlantic Numismatic Association in the capital.

The four executives discussed areas in which the A.N.A. could more effectively cooperate with those agencies of the federal government responsible for enforcing federal law and regulations applicable to coinage, according to President Dodson.

After the committee has been appointed from the A.N.A. membership, President Dodson discloses, it will make a study and forward its recommendations to the executive board.

After further study and approval of the executive board, these recommendations will be forwarded to the director of the Mint for study and such action as appears to be feasible, the top A.N.A. official disclosed.

Appointment of the initial committee members are to be made from executive board recommendations.

"A.N.A. membership will be kept informed of further developments on this subject in which

Thousands At Midwest Show

Heart of America Numismatic Association's second annual Midwest Coin Show took on all the aspects of a statewide or much larger organization's show November 26 and 27 in Kansas City.

According to tabulations made by the Chamber of Commerce, attendance for the first day alone was listed at 3,000. Ray Lefman and Ralph Bondon, co-chairmen of the event, had hoped for attendance of 4,000 for the entire show.

Later, officials listed the attendance for the entire show at 6,500.

Held at the Hotel Muehlenbach in Kansas City, Missouri, the show officially opened November 25 at 7 p.m. for early holiday week-end travelers.

Highlighting coin sales was the purchase of a $4 "Stella." The gold piece sold for $4,600.

Dealers attended from both the east and west coasts to add to the allure of a major organization's convention. Many collectors attending were from the midwest area.

A new innovation of the show was the sponsorship of an essay contest for Kansas City coin collectors by eight life members of the American Numismatic Association.

No stipulations were placed on what the entrants wrote about other than it must concern some phase of numismatics. Club officials hope to make the contest an annual affair.

Presentation of the trophies in the essay contest was made at an awards breakfast November 27 by Harold Essinger, Jimmie Willey of Grandview, Mo., was awarded first place with second and third going to Arnold Haake Jr. and Dave Hochberg, both of Kansas City, Missouri, respectively.

Comments by dealers included "best convention we've had this year" by W. H. Stalons Jr. of Crest Coins, Lincoln, Nebraska.

Chester F. Gifford Jr. of Oklahoma Coin Exchange expressed the opinion that bourse business went "real well." Gifford also stated he had sold quite a bit and expected the prosperity of singles and rolls to start "rolling in a few days or a few months."

Trophies were awarded for first, second and third places in the six classifications. Ribbons were awarded to all of the approximately 150 exhibits.

Many of the exhibits exceeded $40,000 in value, according to club officials.

A large trophy for best in show was awarded to C. J. Willey of Grandview, Missouri, for his display of U. S. coins (not gold). He also won first in the U. S. category.

Judges for the event were chosen from charter members of the Heart of America Numismatic Association which was formed in 1934. Chosen to judge were Leo Sams, George Paris, Charlie Stump, Bill Knapp and Maxwell (Continued on Page 2)

Dealer Group Officially Incorporated

First official bulletin of the Retail Coin Dealers' Association, Inc., since the incorporation of the new organization on November 7 under Texas law, has reached its members.

Officers of the corporation include Eliot J. Cashdan, Cashdan Coin Company, Fort Worth, as president; J. K. Megginson, Denison, Texas, vice president, and Wilson F. Walters, Box 536, Denison, Texas, as secretary-treasurer.

By-laws of the corporation are in the process of being prepared and adopted and will be sent to members shortly, according to the new officers.

A quarterly bulletin to each member is to be issued with the first one for 1961 to appear about February 20 with May 20, August 20 and November 20 of each calendar year set for publication dates.

Confidential code information went forth in the first bulletin on both a dealer-to-dealer basis and a dealer-buyer relation.

Organizers of the R.C.D.A., Inc. emphasized as they sent out the initial bulletin that no stock in the organization has been issued to any investor nor is any stock expected to be issued.

Consideration of the first annual convention in Atlanta, Georgia, in 1961 is underway, according to the bulletin.

Stop Checks

"I advise anyone who sent a check to 'Buell and Son, P. O. Box 229, Washington, Missouri', to stop payment, pending investigation by my office and postal authorities from St. Louis," Police Chief R. E. Schroeder, of Washington, Mo., said November 30 in a statement to Coin World.

Postal Inspector John Schicker, St. Louis, said all mail addressed to Buell and Son was being returned as of Thursday. He advised that collectors sending cashiers checks should contact their issuing bank immediately for a stop order.

Officials were alerted and started checking the credibility of the Buell and Son firm after an advertisement in December 1 Coin World for an estate sale of gold offered coins at unusual prices. It brought a flood of telephone calls to Washington, Missouri, requesting authentication.

Yule Deadlines

Readers with news items and advertisers with selling or buying copy should check Coin World deadlines for prompt handling of their material in the coming holiday period.

Because Christmas falls on Sunday, the normal Monday noon deadline for the issue of January 5 will be advanced to Saturday noon, December 24.

Advertiser Subscribers Transferred

With this issue, Coin World will pick up the unexpired subscriptions of The Numismatic Advertiser, of Memphis, Tenn., which was recently purchased from Milton Goldberger.

All former readers of The Advertiser will receive Coin World as second class mail, special newspaper handling. This type of mailing will insure prompt delivery.

Within a few weeks, a special subscription expiration number and code key will appear upon the address label making it possible for the reader to check his own expiration date.

Coin World purchased only the subscription list and name of the Memphis publication in the transaction. All advertising accounts and prepaid classified word want ads will have to be settled with Goldberger.

Numismatic Advertiser readers should also be informed that Coin World operates as a weekly newspaper and as such handles its classified word advertisements on a cash with order basis.

No "free" advertisements are given to subscribers on a monthly basis as was the custom of the Memphis paper.

Coin World published a photograph of McBride on November 17 and members of the Reading Coin Club recognized their new member, "Ned E. Davis."

He was inadvertently alerted in time to leave town, halting only long enough to close out a checking account and a safety deposit box.

Queen Has U. S. Ties

By Hans Holzer

Grace Kelly may be the world's only American-born reigning personage, but she is a mere princess, and of a tiny state at that.

However, a genuine queen, of an old and substantial country, Albania, may be regarded as the only queen of American background.

She is Hungarian-born Countess Geraldine Appony, whose mother was an American citizen, and who grew up among Americans.

On April 27, 1938, she married the then King Zog of Albania, only to flee into exile with him a year later, when the invading Italians brought Albanian independence to an end.

Since then, the queen has lived with her exiled husband in Portugal and other watering places of dethroned European royalty.

There are coins bearing the name of Queen Geraldine. These were 100 and 20 francs, and silver two and one francs issued in 1938 to honor the couple on their wedding day.

Although a country without major roads or railways, Albania nevertheless had some of the finest coins in Europe. These were all inspired by classical Greek designs and executed by the top artists of the Roman mint. It is doubtful, however, if many of Zog's people ever saw the beautiful gold pieces now seen in many collections in this country.

It must be sad, however, that Queen Geraldine was extremely popular with the Albanians, and never lost the common touch, perhaps due to her American background and upbringing.

Action to take steps to clarify and examine federal regulations came in the wake of a series of confiscations of coins struck in "illegal alloy" by the government. The law for this action, cited by government officials and confiscating agents, maintains the government retains title to such coins. Numismatists decry this interpretation.

Earliest Coinage Honored Gods: American Was Slow In Reverence

By Arthur F. Giere

The earliest metallic coins in the world, manufactured many centuries before the birth of Christ, contained information on them honoring gods.

The early Romans had the image of Jupiter, whom they named, god the father. All of the Roman gods were married, so Jupiter's wife was Juno and the month of June is named in her honor. Undoubtedly one could address her as Mrs. Jupiter. Many American girls have honored her by getting married in the month of June.

Then the god, Janus was honored by having his image on a coin. He was known as the god of beginnings. He had a double face, one in the back of his head and one in front like the rest of us. He could look both ways at the same time. That is more than we can do.

The month of January is named in his honor. That month being the first month in the year he could accordingly, scan the past year as well as peer into the year ahead, all at the same time.

Then there was the god, Apollo. He was the sun god. In other words he was the source of life and music.

The god, Vulcan also had his face on the Roman coins. He was known as the god of fire. So, today when some of you, mechanics, vulcanize something, you honor him by using his name as the god of heat and fire.

Strange as it may seem that here in the United States of America we did not honor God on any coins until the era of the Civil war. For that reason, many anxious church leaders said that the United States was a Godless nation.

The Rev. M. R. Watkinson, a preacher in a small congregation in Ridleyville, Pennsylvania, (the town does not exist today), was much concerned about the Godlessness existing in our country. He thought about the terrible misfortunes of the Union after the Battles of Fort Sumter and Bull Run, one historian writes.

One dismal day in November, in the year 1861, it is reported that he sat down at the old worn out and antique writing desk in his rectory office and wrote a letter to the Secretary of the Treasury. Here is a part of the letter:

"One fact touching our currency has hitherto been seriously overlooked. I mean the recognition of the Almighty God in some form in our coins. What if our Republic were now shattered beyond reconstruction? Would not the antiquaries of succeeding centuries rightly reason from our past that we were a heathen nation?"

I propose a motto on the theme of God, Liberty, Law. This would relieve us from the ignominy of heathenism. This would place us openly under the Divine protection which we have personally claimed. From my heart I have felt our national shame in disowning God as not the least of our present national disasters."

The secretary, read this urgent letter and promptly recognized the merit of the writer's plea. Immediately, he directed an order to the director of the Mint. Here is what the dispatch contained:

"No nation can be strong except in the strength of God or safe except in His defense. The trust of our people in God should be declared on our national coins."

"You will cause a device to be prepared, without unnecessary delay, with a motto expressing in the fewest and tersest words possible this national recognition."

Now some of the ideas submitted at that time were: "Trust of Our People in God," and "Our Country, Our God," and "God Our Trust." It was Secretary Chase, whose whole name was Salmon P. Chase, one of Lincoln's ablest cabinet members, who worded the famous motto in its present familiar form. He later became Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court.

It was not until the year 1864 that the motto first appeared on the coins of the United States. The two-cent piece was the first coin to bear the motto, In God We Trust. This coin ceased to be minted nine years later. Not until the year 1938 was the motto finally to make its appearance on all coins minted in the United States.

However, the motto did not at anytime appear on any of our paper money. In fact, it was not until October, 1959, that the one dollar silver certificate contained the motto. A man by the name of Matthew H. Rother, of a small Arkansas town, was responsible for placing the motto on our paper currency.

It was in 1953, at a church service in the big city of Chicago, while the collection plate was being passed that he noted that only the metal coins had, In God We Trust. Being missionary minded he figured that if the paper money also contained the motto the whole world would be aware of our trust in God.

Mr. Humphrey, the secretary of the treasury, was in complete accord with the idea. In 1955, congress passed a bill which directed that "at such time as new dies for printing currency are adopted by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, the dies shall bear the inscription, In God We Trust and thereafter this inscription shall appear on all United States currencies and coins."

So far the motto had only appeared on the one dollar bills.

Even some of the United States postage stamps now bear the motto, In God We Trust. The past summer the post office department issued a four cent stamp with the inscription "And this be our Motto, In God Is Our Trust". It is known as the Credo issue of postage stamps.

One will, of course, at once recognize that this quotation is taken from our National Anthem, The Star Spangled Banner, which was written by Francis Scott Key, who by the way, was an attorney. In fact, he was the United States attorney for the District of Columbia.

Where did we get this motto? In the third chapter of Proverbs we read, "Trust in the Lord". Now this book was written by Solomon and old Solly was quite a guy. He was the son of King David, and his mother was Bethsheba, the former wife of General Uriah. If you will read the Bible, you will find that in order to marry her he arranged to have her husband, Uriah, shot in a battle. That was his way to get another wife.

By reputation, old Solly was the wisest man in the world. He wrote the Book of Proverbs and is said to have been born about 900 years before Christ. He lived for 53 years and is reputed to have had 1000

Portuguese Alter Coinage Of Mozambique

By Hans Holzer

Now that the last foreign colonies on African soil are rapidly disappearing and the countries gain their independence, only Portugal has done little or nothing to prevent the inevitable.

The Portuguese colonies in Africa are Angola, on the west coast, and Mozambique, in the east, and various smaller possessions like St. Thomas and Prince Islands and the Cape Verde Islands off the coast of West Africa.

Far behind other African territories in advancement, these colonies have their own peculiar coinages and to this day count in Portuguese money.

But as recently as 1927, the centavos coinage of Angola carried the older denomination of Macutas, reminiscent of the big copper pieces of the 16th to 18th centuries, mined in Africa and crudely struck locally.

In 1952, the sensitive Portuguese government started to omit the world "colony of" from the coins of Mozambique. But it is doubtful that it made any difference to the natives.

wives. His wisdom made him a popular guy in those days.

Today, we, in the United States of America like, the ancient Romans, centuries before Christ, can monetarily proclaim to the nations of the world, that we honor and respect and trust God. This anyone can see by glancing at our coins, currencies and one of the 1960 postage stamps.

Don't Feed The Kitty

The racketeers are back! They will sell anything as long as someone will buy it. They offer a smorgasbord of illegal and ill-struck coins: altered dates, phony coins, plated cents—spurious items that plague numismatics.

We had a bourse table next to a large plastic holder manufacturer at a recent convention. He remarked that even though there were only five genuine 1913 Liberty nickels, his firm had manufactured over five hundred holders specially imprinted for these coins! Certainly these holders were not made for the owners of the original five—instead they were made for collectors who bought an altered date just for kicks!

Little do these collectors realize they are contributing to one of the biggest rackets in numismatics! Altering the dates on 1913 nickels, or 1914-D cents, or 1931-S cents is larger than most people think, and it is time legitimate collectors and dealers did something to stamp out this illicit traffic.

The racketeer stays in business as long as someone buys his product. The only way to curtail his activity is to cut off his dollar sign. If you are offered altered date coins for sale: DON'T BUY!

The most recent product, an altered date 1931-S cent, was sent to us by Darwin France, a dealer specializing in Lincoln cents. This coin, Darwin points out, is made from a 1930-S. The figure 3 in the date is square on the fake, while the 3 on the genuine has a longer tail or descender. He also notes the space between the 9 and the 3 is wider in the altered cent compared to the real 1931-S.

Several suggestions were made by Darwin which are excellent: Use a strong glass and examine your rarer coins. Know that you are buying from a reputable dealer or individual. Be suspicious of any very low priced rare coin.

He purchased several of these spurious coins, knowing they were altered dates. We differ with friend Darwin on this point, however. His object was to supply a sample altered date for comparison to every dealer who buys from him.

If the manufacturer of these altered dates were to supply every coin dealer in the country he would be kept busy for two months! At five dollars a copy—for comparison!—this crook would make over $15,000.

The answer is still: don't buy altered dates. Don't feed the racketeer's kitty.

While we're on the subject, here is another practice we would like to see stopped: copper plating steel cents. There must be hundreds of thousands of these thin shelled copper clinkers all over the country.

Whenever there is any publicity in the local newspapers about 1943 cents, there is a raft of letters and telephone calls from owners of these phony forty-threes. If the guy who plated these things had to answer all the letters and telephone calls in every dealer's office, in every newspaper office, in every coin club, in every town, we're sure he would never do it.

Here at Coin World we reject any advertisement offering altered dates and copper plated cents. We're only sorry to see these start up again, and noticed an ad in the November Scrapbook. This ad, similar to one we rejected, reads:

"Would you like to have a 1943 copper cent (?) Despite all the publicity, the mint denies making any; but just for a collector's gag, we will beautifully copper-plate your 1943 steel cents."

Coin collectors take their collecting seriously, and don't go along with this "gag". They don't find it a bit funny to see an altered date, or a copper plated steel cent because they know some innocent person can always get hurt.

The collector who displays, much less owns, one of these spurious coins loses the respect of all the legitimate collectors and dealers.

Don't fall for the racketeer's bait. Don't feed his kitty. Don't buy these coins.

Letters To The Editor

As president of the Tri-State Coin Club of Joplin, Missouri, I have been asked by unanimous vote of our 105 members to express our regret that the Joplin Coin Club's representative saw fit to write the critical letter which you printed on September 29, 1960.

We are heartily in accord with your editorial policy and wish you many years of successful publication.

These are sentiments which should have been written to you immediately upon receipt of the September 29 issue but I, for one, have not paid as much attention to Letters to the Editor as I intend to give that department from now on! This letter was drafted as soon as the matter was called to my attention.

The Tri-State Coin Club, less than two years old and with a much larger membership than the other coin collectors group in Joplin, does not agree in any particular with the derogatory remarks contained in the September 29 letter. Our club enjoys your publication and anticipates each issue. We are proud of our town, our hobby and our own club.

Thank you for providing us with such a fine source of information for our interests.

R. A. Mahoney, D. O.
 President
 Tri-State Coin Club

No one has asked me but it is my opinion that the "postage and insurance extra" boys are losing some business.

I, for one at least, must prefer a turnkey job on my orders even though the cost is slightly greater. The worst of all is the expensive coin ad that instructs one to "add 50 cents for mailing and handling".

E. C. Love Jr.
 Chandler, Oklahoma

The letter in your November 17, issue, from James Bird brought to mind something that I have been wondering about for some time.

Many collectors buy both the Blue book and the Red book each year to use as a comparison in prices. However, they find that a certain series of coins in one book is listed under fine and extra fine while in the other book it is listed under very fine, uncirculated and proof. Confusing but not amusing. Consequently I think that a lot of collectors would appreciate an article on how coin prices are determined, with a "rule of thumb" formula for determining prices between various grades.

Recently I turned up a 1911-D quarter eagle. It is a scarce coin but it has a ring soldered to it. How to price such a coin?
 William F. Thompson
 Medford, Oregon

I wish to add my 1864 small motto cents of congratulations on your very good paper. I feel as if we have a lot in common, because your paper started in business at the same time that I started collecting.

I hope we can prosper and grow old together.

Robert V. Rossetti
 Canton, Ohio

Can't you do something about this nonsense of the large and small and medium size dates on the 1960 coins?

Alright, there was a difference in the size of the dates on the cents minted the first of the year from that on those of the present supply. But this new claim about the nickels—that is carrying the farce too far.

I took the enlarged pictures... and carefully measured them in a number of ways and they are exactly the same size from top to bottom, from end to end and from top corner to bottom corner on opposite end.

I think that all this kind of thing is not doing anything for the good of the hobby.

Charles L. Miller
 Muncie, Indiana

No! For gosh sake, NO! Small date cents were bad enough—they almost wrecked numismatics—but not small date nickels and small motto dimes!

What is happening to the serious collector of ancient, rare and beautiful coins? This is ridiculous! I thought we had learned our lesson with the cents, but here we go again!

In your November 17 publication I see an ad offering 1960-P small date nickels for $2.50 each or $100 a roll, $98 a roll more than face value.

Serious collectors, hear my plea! Don't plunge headlong in these nickels as with the cents! It will spell the end of numismatics!

I want to thank you for the Coin World paper. I have been taking it now for about three months and I have learned more about coins than I ever knew before!

I have checked about 100,000 cents in the last year, and the other night I found a 1909-S VDB in fine shape. I was sure surprised when I found it. I have also found a 1914-D in fine shape.

Keep up the good work in the paper.

James A. Murray

Enclosed you will find my renewal subscription to "Coin World" for two years. I know you must get literally thousands of letters like this one, but I can't help but add my congratulations to you on your wonderful magazine, particularly the "trends." I'd like to see that department enlarged to include the earlier coins, listing prices on extra value circulated coins.

My collection was started in 1923 when I came across a 1914-D cent. It grew through the years but I never took it too seriously until I received my first copy of "Coin World."

Since then my husband and I joined the La Mesa Coin Club and both are enjoying collecting.

Thanks to your magazine we found out our proof sets were the small date ones.

Congratulations and continued success.

Mrs. Lillian Islex
 La Mesa, California

My recent five-inch classified ad in Coin World brought better results than similar ads in any of the other numismatic publications. I feel that these results were particularly noteworthy because the items offered were the not so popular early half dollars.

In order to remain in business, small dealers such as myself must get results from our advertisements as we do not have the capital to invest in large stocks of coins. It would appear that your publication is helping us to achieve this objective.

Also I have found it necessary in the past to subscribe to at least half a dozen coin papers and magazines in order to keep abreast of the latest news and developments pertaining to our hobby.

With Coin World I feel that I may now drop most of these subscriptions without missing anything of importance.

Coin World has again proved the old adage, "build a better mousetrap."

We wish to thank you and your organization for the fine support you gave us with our recent silver anniversary celebration. The support helped make it a great success.

We also wish to congratulate you for the wonderful newspaper you have. It probably has done more to further numismatics than any other single work in this decade.

Thanks again.

Coin-of-the-Month Formed

Establishment of a Coin-of-the-Month Club, a new service to collectors, was announced this week.

The Coin-of-the-Month Club will offer members an attractively designed, beautifully struck commemorative medal each month according to Merle Thiele of Sioux Falls, South Dakota.

The Coin-of-the-Month Club will operate much like the many book and record clubs now in existence throughout the world.

"We felt that the United States Mint policy of not issuing commemorative coins, while the Postal Department issues a large number of commemorative stamps, was working a hardship on the coin collectors. Because of the mint policy, many events and people so deserving of commemoratives have not been honored in this way," Thiele stated.

"While it is true that a few commemoratives are being issued by individuals and special groups, they are not standard in size and metal, and are very difficult to obtain."

"Through the Coin-of-the-Month Club, we will issue a continuing (monthly) series of commemoratives that will be standard in size, metal, and finish," he noted.

The major benefit of the club will be that members will be able to receive the commemoratives regularly, and at a price that every collector can afford.

Because of the many collectors requesting different types of commemoratives, the coin club will offer six membership choices and a seventh "combination" membership.

The membership subscriptions will range from $12 per year ($1 per month) for the nickel-silver strike to $10 per month for the "combination" of all six metals and finishes. Other membership prices will average between $1.25 and $2 per month.

In addition to the nickel-silver, the commemoratives will be offered in sterling silver, bright bronze, oxidized bronze, oxidized silver and gold plated.

All commemoratives in the series will be one and five-sixteenths inches in diameter and as thick as a government half dollar.

The Coin-of-the-Month commemoratives will be struck in limited quantities and each will be sent in a numbered packet. They will also be protected in plastic bags and mailed in special double-thick envelopes to protect them in the mails.

The first issue will be Civil War Commemorative which will be mailed to charter members the first week of January.

(An advertisement on another page of this issue gives additional detail, and a reduced price offer to persons who enter a Coin-of-the-Month club membership early.)

Commemorative coins have been popular since the days of the Greeks and Romans who used them to honor important people and record important events.

The progress and advance of the United States will be presented interestingly and informatively in the new Coin-of-the-Month commemorative series.

In addition to the regular issues, beautiful, unique, and interesting single issues will be available to club members at reduced prices.

The unique position of, and interest in, commemoratives in the U.S. is due to the fact that very few regular issues of government coins have real historical significance.

In addition to the historical importance of commemoratives, they are generally more artistic than the regular issues.

It is the historical feature of the commemoratives that creates interest among many collectors who would otherwise have little interest in coins. Commemoratives often encourage Americana collectors to include coins in their collections. They often then become interested in all phases of numismatics.

More information and specific information about the Coin-of-the-Month Club can be obtained by writing to Merle A. Thiele, Box 738, Sioux Falls, South Dakota.

Schulman Reports

Spinks Outbids Fellow Londoner At Gibbs Sale

By Hans M. F. Schulman

The Howard D. Gibbs collection of counterstamped coins of England & the British Isles and of English siege coins brought record prices at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel Saturday, November 19. The room was crowded with collectors and dealers from England with Messrs Spink & Son picking up more than 20,000 dollars worth of Gibbs' rarities. The estimates in the catalogue which were high in our opinion were often surpassed three times. A. H. Baldwin, also from London, tried his very best to buy many of the beautiful coins but was continuously outbid by Spinks in one of the most active auction bidding ever held in New York. Fortunately old timer Auctioneer Donald D'Amato was up to the job and handled the collection well, efficiently and quick.

The catalogue will long be used as the only standard work on the series and with the price list to be published will be a book of value. The Howard D. Gibbs counterstamped collections of other countries will follow and similar success is forecast.

A small ancient coin sale together with some minor U.S., odd and curious monies etc. preceded the Gibbs collection at the Waldorf and a brisk 900 lots were sold in three hours to a smart and cheerful audience.

Banker LaPenta succeeded in enriching his already outstanding collection with many pieces. Dr. Matzilevich kept him company with his sweet wife, Catherine, who attends many of the Waldorf Astoria sales. Now that again the Waldorf Astoria auction sales have started for this season we are happy to announce that the Royal Athena Galleries under Jerome Eisenberg is selling a large group of antiquities, medals, gold jewelry and other wealth from the ancient world in a special Christmas antiquity sale.

Donald D'Amato is calling this sale and catalogues are available free of charge. The sale is set for December 3rd at the pretty Jansen suite.

December will find New York teeming with numismatists because both New Netherlands Coin company (Charles Wormser and John J. Ford) and Stacks are running important U.S. and foreign sales.

The sales have been already discussed in Coin World and therefore no further mention is made in this column.

We hear that our good friend, Jim Kelly, of "Trends" had a very successful sale in Dayton at the coin convention. Jim's sales always are run well and we like them.

Calico in Barcelona, Spain, announces a new sale for the Spanish Numismatic Society and the catalogue is just out. Spanish Numismatics are always well represented in those sales and so well documented that their catalogues are permanent guides.

No definite news yet on the three dates we all have in Rome in 1961, for the International Numismatic Congress, for the IAPN for dealers only and for the medalist congress, the FIDEM.

The dates are in September and except for the International, the others have not set their dates.

We still expect to go by charter plane with our editor, Dick Johnson, as mental pilot.

Douglas Liddell and his pretty wife toured the entire United States before landing in New York for the Gibbs sale and among other places stopped in to see Abner Kreisberg at Beverly Hills. Abner stopped from his work for the big February sale to have dinner with them.

Many readers of Coin World have asked me to give some detailed information how to bid at auctions and what it is all about.

When dealers talk about their bid book, about coins without reserves when they talk about limits, about unlimited bids, about the auctioneer.... you do not seem to understand everything about it and "Coin World" in this column next week will try to explain as much as possible what it is all about. In the meantime if you have any questions, do not hesitate to ask.

We present our sincere condolences and our deep sympathy to our friend, Ben Lonstein, from Brooklyn, whose brother was so brutally murdered in an argument about taking somebody's parking space in a public street. The guy did not like the fact that Ben's brother parked his car right in the space that he wanted and in the following argument Ben's brother was killed.

Medal Manufacture Topic Of Program

A sound film showing the design and manufacture of medals was featured at a recent meeting of the St. Petersburg, Florida, Coin Club. In conjunction, Harry Adams displayed a collection of presidential medals.

The St. Petersburg club holds a "swap" meeting each month, at a separate date from the regular meetings. It also has a monthly auction with mimeographed list which includes the names of the consignors.

Coin Windfall As Bank Moves

Cheyenne, Wyoming, coin collectors got a "windfall" recently, when the American National Bank moved to a new building. Bank employees found some boxes of uncirculated nickel rolls that had been "buried" in the vaults since they were placed there in 1942 and 1943, all "S" mint.

When word got out, the collectors showed up.

According to Tom Mason, president of the Cheyenne Coin Club, the collectors bought the rolls at face and many of them sold them again at $20 to $30, making a handsome profit on the deal.

In Betweens Rarer

First and last issues of a given series of coins are usually commoner than in between dates because many non-collectors saved them in new condition.

Collector Has Bryan Dollar

John H. Bohn, a retired Altoona, Pennsylvania, machinist and car builder, is proud of his Bryan dollar, one of those distributed in the McKinley-Bryan campaign of 1896 to ridicule Bryan's plan of free coinage of silver. Bohn received the coin from his father at the close of the 1896 campaign, when he was 10 years old. In front of Bohn are several pieces of currency from his collection including currency from the First National Bank of Altoona.

Roll Market Reaches Stabilization Point

By Jim Kelly

333 W. First St., Dayton 2, Ohio

The first evidence that some stabilization is coming to the roll market has been indicated during the past few weeks. Quite a number of the part-time dealers and collectors who were advertising and doing a sizeable business in rolls, and nothing else, have apparently been eliminated or at least have discontinued advertising. To a great extent, it was these people who forced the market upward, both by asking and paying excessively high prices.

In recent publications, we have noticed that the established or old-time roll dealers are still advertising and we know from personal experience that they are still buying which is something the "Johnny-Come-Lately's" ceased to do as soon as the market turned sour.

It is not my intention to give the impression that a new boom is about to start in the roll business, or that there are not additional adjustments, downward as well as upward, to be made. What I wish to imply is that the bottom has been reached on a great many dates and some of the scarcer issues have even shown a slight advance in price.

The roll or wholesale market has a definite place in numismatics for the dealer as well as the investor. It was unfortunate that this market got out of control and equally fortunate in that it has been able to adjust itself in such a short time.

This certainly should be a pointed lesson to collectors and dealers. Let's hope that they learned from it as many paid dearly for this lesson.

Ancient Coins Specialty Of New Jersey School Headmaster

Elliott Knoke, headmaster at the Gill School, Bernardsville, New Jersey, who specializes in Greek and Roman coins, and a complete collection of Maundy money, was featured recently in a Bernardsville, New Jersey, News, feature.

Headmaster Knoke was seriously launched on his numismatic career by a Dutch student who brought to class a collection of 2,000 Roman coins.

The school official, according to the newspaper, gets his coins almost exclusively from England with a few coming from Switzerland and Italy.

However, the story continued, since last spring, Knoke has had the pleasure of shopping in New York for coins, thanks to a generous gift from the boys and parents at Pingry School where he was for 30 years, first as a history teacher and last as director of admissions.

At Pingry, where the Dutch boy was a student, he formed the Pingry School Coin Club which became internationally known.

For eight consecutive years the school won first prize in competitions among junior clubs. The highlight of their exhibiting came when the school's coin club was selected to have an exhibit in the Milan Trade Fair illustrating the American Standard of Life and what it does for its children.

Its exhibit case, designed by famed designer Raymond Lowey, was made of plastic and revolved with pictures of the boys exhibiting on display. The exhibit then was taken on to Barcelona, Spain, where it remained until the end of the summer in 1959.

The best part of coin collecting, according to Knoke, is the way it helps in illustrating history to students as well as the pleasure it gives to the collector to be able to get glimpses of the past through coins. Though he really started seriously collecting thanks to the boy from Holland, his interest first started when he was a boy of 10 in Brooklyn.

Then his grandfather would produce coins for him out of the secret drawers of his big roll-top desk.

Knoke is on the speakers' bureau of the Herald Tribune and has done a great deal of lecturing on the subject of numismatics.

He is a member of the American Numismatic Association and served two terms as president of the New Jersey Numismatic Society. He has been working on his collection for 20 years. However his interest in collecting does not stop at coins, through it is his most extensive. He and his three sons, now all in college, have a gun collection and Knoke is a member of the New Jersey Gun Collectors Organization.

Their collection includes nine gun models used in the Civil War, seven American military rifles, beginning with one used in the Revolutionary War and going up to the present time. He is also collecting English guns showing the development of the British Military.

As the result of a coin collector friend of his, he is also a collector of British war medals, all of which represent 12 Scottish Regiments. These are mounted on black velvet and are displayed with hat and badges and swatches of the regiments tartan.

These are not all yet up on his wall in his study. He and Mrs. Knoke, one-time nursery school teacher at Gill, moved there this past summer with their daughter, Sall, an eighth grade student at Gill.

For the past 20 years the Knoke had made their home in Basking Ridge, but, according to Mrs. Knoke, "living in their present home with its lovely view is just like being on vacation all the time."

Collectors, Dealers Polled To Guide Firm On 1960 Cents

A cross-section of coin dealers and collectors will influence the addition or deletion of the 1960 small and large date cents in future editions of the Whitman Guide Book and Whitman blue coin folders, Ken Bressett, numismatic editor of the Whitman Publishing Company, discloses.

Hundreds of collectors and dealers have been polled through a questionnaire sent by the Racine, Wisconsin firm.

As soon as tabulation is completed, a complete report will be issued, Bressett said.

He said the votes about the inclusion of the large and small date cents of 1960 will be of major importance to Whitman.

"We feel that the decision of whether or not these varieties should be included in our publication can only be decided by the vote of a large group of both collectors and dealers," Bressett maintained.

Among the questions asked in the poll were:

Do you feel that the 1960 small and large date cents are important in the numismatic history of the United States?

Do you think that these cents will lose their popularity soon?

Do you believe that a small group of people are controlling the price of the 1960 cents?

Do you favor listing the large and small date cents in future editions of the Guide Book?

Should the 1960 large and small date cents be added to the Whitman blue coin folders?

Collectors were also queried as to their personal comments on the large and small date cents, as to what other varieties of United States coins they feel should be added or taken out of the Guide Book and the blue coin folders.

The Whitman firm asked collectors if a two million estimate for the number of 1960 Philadelphia small date cents was too high or low.

"One side of the argument as to whether or not the coins have numismatic merit claims that the variation of large and small dates merely represents the result of routine mint production," the letter accompanying the poll stated.

"The master hub became worn and needed to be 'overhauled.' Re-tooling of the date made it larger and clearer; other parts of the die were also changed slightly. Alterations of this nature have been made many times in the past," the letter continued.

If a variation in the size or form of a date is caused by using the date punches intended for some other coin it would indeed be unusual and noteworthy, the Whitman numismatists reasoned. A slight change such as on the 1960 cents which was the result of normal mint procedure has little numismatic importance, it was pointed out.

"On the other side of the argument," the letter concluded, "are the cold, hard facts that these coins are the most discussed coins of modern times and that rolls of the 1960 Philadelphia cents have sold for as much as $200—all of which indicates a high degree of collector, dealer and speculator interest."

Missouri Club A.N.A. Member

The Excelsior Springs, Missouri, Coin Club has received its American Numismatic Association membership number, 38544, club officials announced at a recent meeting.

On the program for the meeting was a demonstration by Ted Boone on the proper procedure for cleaning coins, and a coin "quiz."

The club meets the second Monday of the month in the Annex rooms of the Oaks Hotel in Excelsior Springs. The next session will be December 12.

Coin Store Robbed Before It Officially Opens Doors

A stock of coins valued at $1,500 was stolen from a coin store before it even opened for business. The coins were in the showcases of a shop owned by Arthur E. Ford, at 331 East Fifth Avenue, Redondo Beach, California.

Police reported a back window had been pried open with a crow bar, and the inside screen had been pushed into the room. A burglar alarm failed to go off. Included in the loss were Indian cents, Liberty nickels and quarters, rare dimes, half dollars, and four two-and-one-half inch brass medals.

While James L. Peters, Rockford, Illinois, was in the process of moving his trailer from one part of the city to another, his coin collection was stolen. He told police it contained old American and German coins with a face value of about $100 but a numismatic value of considerably more.

A collection of nickels, dimes and cents was stolen from the Country Store owned by Donald D. Skelton, Lancaster, California.

Coins in collections are not the only ones of interest to thieves. Intruders broke into two coin machines in an automatic laundry at 1220 Brooke Road, Rockford, Illinois, and obtained $7.

Theft of $44.85 in face value of old coins from a display case at the Lancaster, Pennsylvania, bus terminal won John H. Eisenberger, 34, of Lancaster, a term of 1½ to three years in jail.

Eisenberger, janitor at the terminal, pleaded guilty in court, and was fined $100 in addition to the jail sentence. He had spent the money. He had a long police record for prior offenses, it was noted.

A coin collection valued at $1,328 plus $195 in cash were reported stolen from the St. Louis, Missouri, home of John Sagmund, according to police.

Burglars entered the office of C. H. Van de Steeg, La Crosse, Wisconsin, recently and took a recently-purchased silver dollar coin collection totaling $150, according to La Crosse officials. An undetermined number of dimes were also missing.

Pre-dawn was chosen by robbers to break into a Vallejo, California, bar and take a $900 $2 bill collection, $200 in silver dollars and from $200 to $300 in old coins of various denominations.

The burglary occurred at Hoot Gibson's sometime after the 2 a. m. closing. Gibson has been a collector for 20 years.

Boy Scouts Featured On New Heraldic Art Medal

A sterling silver medal marking the golden anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America, 1910-1960, has just been issued by Heraldic Art as number V in its continuing series of half-dollar diameter commemorative medallions.

Mailings have been completed to subscribers to the series, and the Boy Scouts medallion is now available to new purchasers.

Quantity struck for this particular issue (7,500 sterling silver pieces) is somewhat larger than customary, reflecting special interest among Scouts, those interested in BSA activities, and subscribers and others who wished additional pieces for gift use.

Postpaid price of the medallions (uniform for all pieces in the series) is $3.25 singly, or $6 per pair, accompanied by descriptive folder. The customary limit of not more than 10 pieces per individual applies. Pieces are available direct from Heraldic Art, Box 5891, Cleveland 1, Ohio. Airmail handling is available at seven cents additional per piece.

This is a photograph of the sterling silver medal (half dollar size) marking the 50th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America, latest in a series of commemorative medallions struck by Heraldic Art, Cleveland.

Obverse of the Boy Scout medallions features the standing figure of a Scout, symbolizing the more than 28,000,000 former members who have gained in self-reliance, moral stature and citizenship by participation in the respected and beloved movement in its 50 years of existence.

The legend is:

BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA, 1910, 1960. The reverse is a representation of the Boy Scout emblem surmounting a star of honor.

The Boy Scout badge is derived directly from the original Baden-Powell design, in which the fleur-de-lis represents a compass point arrowhead for north, suggesting that the Scout be as dependable as a compass, and should point the way as surely.

The American eagle distinguishes the national design from similar badges around the world.

Legend surrounding is: FOR GOD & COUNTRY 50 YEARS OF SERVICE.

Medallion VI, next in the series, marks twin anniversaries of two of the most vital "Pioneer Inventions": the Long Rifle (1710) and the Conestoga Wagon (1760).

Models for this piece were executed by sculptor Robert A. Weinman, son of the late A. A. Weinman, designer of the Liberty walking half dollar. Subscription mailings of this piece, now in preparation, are expected to be completed before December 15.

EXTREMELY RARE BU 5 COIN SEQUENCE

Showing the progressive disappearance of the letter 'e' in the word "cents" on the 1960-D nickel. These coins are from bank wrapped BU rolls, and show 5 stages diminishing from a perfect strike to a complete void of the one letter.

Airmail bids will close Jan. 3, 1961. High bidder will be notified.

Do Not Send Money With Bid.

No bid will be accepted for less than $200.00 for this 5 coin set. This is a once in a lifetime find, and not a 'doctored' up fluke.

Captain Finds Ten Months' Mint Report Blank Reverse

Blank planchets occasionally turn up in bank- and mint-wrapped rolls, but Air Force Captain Alvin E. Nauman of New York APO has found half a blank planchet. That is, he has found a Lincoln cent with a 1960-D normal obverse, but blank on the reverse.

Altered 1914-D cents are appearing in Huntington, West Virginia, and the Wayne County, West Virginia, area, according to a report from C. P. Sprigg of Huntington. He says they are machined down from 1944-D coins. He has also spotted some 1943 copper-coated zinc cents, he says.

Large and small date 1960 Denver mint nickels are turning up, reported by Ray H. Frazin, Oklahoma City.

Robert W. Jenkins, Plymouth, Massachusetts, reports having a 1957-D Lincoln cent with double date, and a "blob" B in Liberty.

Pre-Mint Diary Reveals Many Personnel Details

Payroll deductions, traffic jams and seniority entangled with civil service and sticky red tape were no problems to the early makers of American money—but they had other involvements!

Robert Morris, who was working hard on a report for congress in 1781 as a prelude to the founding of the national mint, located Benjamin Dudley as his chief consultant.

Now Mr. Dudley apparently knew his subject but he was distracted by the lack of money to pay his "board" bill, the fact that his wife was in England and he wanted her in America and the precarious position of his future employment.

A diary kept by Mr. Morris frequently refers to Mr. Dudley's application for money:

"Ordered some money on application of Mr. Dudley to pay his expenses . . . Mr. Dudley applies for money to pay his board . . . Mr. Dudley applies about getting his wife from England . . . Mr. Dudley applied for money to pay his lodgings, etc. . . . Mr. Dudley want a horse to go up to Mr. Wheelers . . . Mr. Dudley wrote me a letter this day and wanted money . . . Mr. B. Dudley applied for money, he is very uneasy for want to employment . . . the mint . . . goes on so slowly that I am also uneasy at having this gentleman on pay and no work for him . . ."

Mr. Morris apparently became exasperated at one point. In one of his letters he wrote:

"I . . . assured him (Dudley) of my desire to make him easy and happy. The business in which he is intended to be employed is like many other important matters, retarded by the tediousness of the states in supplying the continental treasury."

Mr. Dudley worked from 1781 to late 1783 assaying foreign coins, drafting plans for a mint and machinery, preparing estimates, constructing models, preparing patterns and supervising the printing of notes.

A discouraged Morris finally advised Dudley that he had his doubts about the establishment of a mint (this was in 1783) and that he should think of some employment in private service.

Although Mr. Dudley performed services for the government that were priceless in value, he was dismissed January 5, 1784, when Mr. Morris granted him a certificate of the time which he was "detained" in public service.

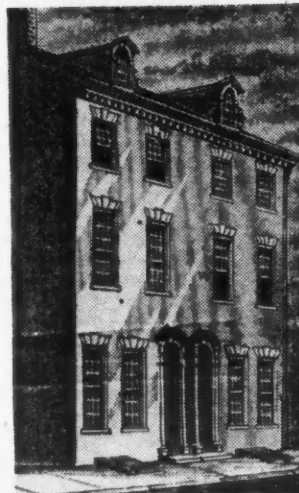

It was early to rise for the workers at the mint in the early 1800's!

Work started at 5 o'clock in the morning, according to an extract from the rules and regulations adopted January 1, 1825. Work continued until 4 p.m.; Saturday closing time was 2 p.m. There was provision for overtime pay, and sick leave would be paid for at the discretion of the proper officer.

There was to be no more drink money allowance at this time!

Instead each man would be allowed three dollars extra wages per month during the three summer months. Any workman found intoxicated would be discharged. No profane or indecent language . . . no smoking . . . no visitors on Saturday or rainy days . . . the watchman must use a dark lantern, not an open candle for inspection. He must keep an arm chest locked with a musket, bayonet, two pistols and a sword. These must be kept in perfect order and inspected once a month.

Embezzlement of any coins is punishable by death. Director Samuel Moore directed these rules be read in the hearing of the workmen at least once a year.

Club Roster Climbs High

With the admission of 26 new members at its last meeting, the membership roster of the Western Rhode Island Coin and Stamp Association has reached 120.

Old newspapers, coins, stamps and covers were displayed at the meeting, and later sold at auction. Charles Moccia of North Scituate was awarded two silver dollars.

Date for the Christmas party has been set as December 14 in the Ponagansett Grange Hall, with Mrs. Del Davis as chairman. Members have been asked to bring one or two children as guests to the party.

Porter Speaker

The recently organized Oshkosh, Wisconsin, Coin Club was slated to hear Russell Porter, vice president of Numismatists of Wisconsin and member of the board of governors of the Central States Numismatic Society at its last meeting.

Porter was to speak on his own specialties and display part of his collection.

Official United States Mint medal commemorating David Rittenhouse, the first in a directors-of-the-Mint medallion art series, is shown here enlarged so Coin World readers may see the beautiful Barber detail. Actual size of the medal, executed by the famous Barber, is approximately one and three-fourths inch in diameter. It sells for $3 and may be ordered from Mrs. Rae V. Biester, Superintendent of the United States Mint, Philadelphia 30, Pennsylvania. Other medals of succeeding Mint directors are also available. The medals cannot be resold at a profit. Payment must be made in the form of money order or certified check. Personal checks are not accepted.

Victimized Collector Shares Helpful Measures

(Last summer, Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. Williams, Pleasant Hills suburb of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, lost their $10,000 coin collection by burglary. After some months of intelligent detective work, much of the collection was recovered. Just how, Williams won't say, because the information might be useful to potential thieves.

However, following his loss and eventual recovery, Williams prepared an article as a warning to other collectors, based on both the loss and the recovery. Coin World feels that few people are better qualified to write such a paper, and herewith publishes it as a service to the entire numismatic field.)

By Robert N. Williams

"It can't happen to me," is the thought that passes through the minds of most collectors when the possibility of coin collection thefts is mentioned. We live in a false sense of security concerning our everyday lives. Some of the fallacies we continue to entertain in order to support this false sense of security are these:

1. I keep all my doors locked.
2. My house is on a busy street.
3. I leave a light on when I go out.

4. My neighbors keep an eye on my house.
5. No one knows of my collection except a few friends.

Coin World has two new subscribers to add this week—two in particular, among more than 500 in general—William F. Houck Jr. and Lt. Stanley A. Smith, officers of the Pleasant Hills, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, police force.

Lt. Smith and Officer Houck worked exhaustively on the Williams coin burglary. Prior to the case, neither had any knowledge of numismatics, but their progress was quite rapid thereafter, according to a letter from Mrs. Williams.

They received sample copies of Coin World and were particularly interested in the paper's complete and rapid coverage of coin thefts. So now Coin World has two new paid subscribers.

6. I'm careful of contacts and advertise for coins with a box number.
7. I keep my collection in a safe.
8. Thieves can't "fence" old coins.
9. We live in a good neighborhood.

I was robbed, I live on a busy street in a good neighborhood with fine neighbors who are fairly familiar with the habits of our household. Thieves broke through three doors and stole $4,000 worth of coins which weighed over 120 pounds, and also stole three suitcases to carry the loot. Then they

Bank Ups Token Valuation To Benton Harbor Clients

Because somebody found one, the Benton Harbor, Michigan, State Bank has increased the value of its tokens from $1 to $2 to savings account depositors.

The tokens were issued by the bank in 1910 as a promotional measure in connection with its "grand opening" at its present location. Of brass or bronze, the tokens are silver dollar size.

They were given away to visitors at the opening in small savings banks. Any person who brought one of the tokens back to the bank and opened a savings account was credited with a $1 deposit.

To see if there are any more around, the bank will now honor them with a $2 credit. None has been seen by bank officials for many years.

The one that started the current "inflated" value was found recently by H. K. Cupp of Stevensville, when he was diskings his cherry orchard. He didn't know what it was, but turned it over to his neighbor, Al Hosbein, an assistant cashier at the bank.

Hosbein cleaned up the corroded token and identified it. Cupp said he had no idea how it got into his orchard.

Collectors' Clearinghouse

Potential Coin Rarity Reported By Collector

If this reader is correct and has a genuine coin, he has turned up one of the outstanding rarities in numismatics. Thomas J. Coen, Kent, Washington, writes:

"I have recently acquired some coins that I can find no record of in our local supply of numismatic literature. Included is a 1853-O seated Liberty half dollar, no arrows or rays, condition good.

COMMENT: Such a coin is listed in the Redbook without value and as "extremely rare". The Standard Catalogue says "three known". Our advice is for you to get it authenticated by an expert and then decide what you wish to do with it. Be sure the the expert you pick is a real one.

The coin could be counterfeit, or it could be worn too badly to show the arrows or rays but the rays are less likely to be missing than the arrows, if the condition is at least "good" as you say.

It would be a good idea to try to trace back as far as you can the history of the coin, as that sometimes helps in authentication.

Most numismatists would say offhand that it is impossible for such a coin to turn up, but we have an open mind on the subject, believing that a lot of the rarities can exist in attics, old trunks, and the like.

Reader Coen had a few other finds in his acquisition which deserve recognition. He mentions an 1864-L Indian cent with two dates, one above the other, in EF.

Also two Lincoln campaign medals, bust type in bronze; and a 1919 Italy 20 cents coin with 10 cents coin over stamped on the obverse.

COMMENT: The Indian cent would be of interest to the Society of Collectors of Numismatic Errors, the address of which we have printed in this column, in each of the last two issues. (Incidentally, we suggest that readers of Coin World cut out that reference and save it.)

Regarding the Lincoln medals, we would have to have a more complete description to identify them. Some Lincoln medals are in the numismatic collection of the Philadelphia Mint, and the February, 1924, issue of the Numismatist was almost entirely devoted to Lincoln medals and tokens. We have the catalogue of the former and a copy of the latter for reference.

On the Italian coin, we suggest you try the error collectors or a dealer who specializes in foreign coins. However, the error is what makes the coin interesting since the 1919 20 cents is not uncommon. The United States Mint makes mistakes, why not the Italian?

J. A. Fischer, Portland, Oregon, asks how many uncirculated silver dollars the treasury is holding, and from what mints.

ANSWER: We can't tell you the mints, and probably the treasury doesn't know, but it is holding as security against paper a total of 139,364,458 dollars, and a matter of 25,369,008 for other reasons. Held by Federal Reserve banks and their agents are also 9,345,000 silver dollars. It is this holding which is released from time to time on demand. These figures are as of September 30, 1960.

I have an extremely fine 1825 large cent with small "A's". The "O" in OF seems smaller than the other letters and I do not find mention of this in the Redbook. Do I have another variety?

John Choma, East St. Louis, Illinois.

ANSWER: The "O" is probably not smaller, just the "F" is larger. However, the Redbook does not begin to list varieties of large cents, many of which are problems for the specialist, as Newcomb identifies several hundred from 1816 on. In 1825, he has three "small A" varieties, known respectively as N3, N6 and N8, all from different dies, but with minor differences only.

An odd coin I have is about the size of a large cent, with an early Liberty head on the obverse, and the date of 1841. The reverse says "Bentonian Currency 1837" with "Mint Drop" in the center. Do you know what it is?

Joe Michelson, Albany, New York.

Collectors Praised By Minter Of Celeston For Great Honesty

In a recent interview at the Oak Park Arms hotel, where his gold celeston exhibit won a medal for excellence in the Oak Park, Illinois, Coin Club Show, James Thomas Mangan, prime minister of the Nation of Celestial Space, asked his views on today's numismatists, made some very pertinent and interesting statements:

"I am not a numismatist myself, and I have been studying the genus for little more than a year. But as a minter I think I have achieved a closer intimacy with the average coin collector than collectors may have with one another, at least in certain respects.

"As a genus, the numismatist is a nobleman, with a nobleness that has been acquired with a great deal of study and hard work. Coins, being the products of governments and in many cases of royalty, communicate intrinsic quality to the collector himself.

"I have never dealt with any class of mankind that is as basically honest, and quick to trust a man on his own recognizance. For instance, of the hundreds of gold celestons that I have distributed all over the United States not one purchaser ever asked for credit or even asked to pay anything other than cash in advance.

"If the total American populace were all coin collectors, I feel sure the American dollar would be so sound we might be back on the gold standard again.

"The coin collector's honesty gleams as bright as the noonday sun. For instance, in one of my plastic presentation boxes I carry a gold celeston on the top part of the cushion, and also (not visible) on the inside, I carry a U.S. gold dollar, which I use to show to laymen (not collectors) who have never seen a one dollar gold piece.

In shipping gold celestons on EIGHT different occasions this box was sent out to eight different customers, who got not only the gold celeston they had ordered but, in addition, the United States gold dollar by mistake. IN EVERY INSTANCE THE GOLD U.S. DOLLAR WAS RETURNED IMMEDIATELY, though I myself had no means of tracing it!

"Such honesty is out of this world. One would have to experience it to believe it!

"Many numismatists call in person at the Capitol, which is my home, 3600 West 96th Street, Evergreen Park, Illinois. They may want to purchase the celeston, but more important, they all want to know how they can help me. Their offers of assistance, purely and wholesomely given, are inspiring and elevating to a man's courage, imagination, and endurance.

"I must say that the American who is a coin collector, and there must be millions of him, is far more than a mere hobbyist—he is the true virtuoso. He has brought his chosen avocation to such a plane, he must be regarded as a pure artist."

First Gold Was Artistic

In a recent Victoria, British Columbia, Numismatic Society bulletin, an article by its editor, Harry Goodman, discusses British Columbia's first gold coinage.

He reports on the proposed mint at New Westminster in the year 1862, and the consequent mintage of the gold, which was simple in design, yet quite artistic, certainly a credit to the designer and the engraver at that time.

The designer was a Capt. Wm. D. Gosset, treasurer of the colony of B. C. during 1862 until August 1862, when he was granted six months leave of absence and a Charles Brew was appointed as treasurer in his absence.

The Engraver was a George Ferdinand Albrecht Kuner better known as Albert Kuner (having dropped the first two names on his arrival at San Francisco). He was known at that time to be the first and most famous engraver on the Pacific coast.

The $20 gold coin obverse of which was a crown and a legend "Government of British Columbia" with a rose in exergue beneath the crown, dividing the legend. The reverse side "20 dollars 1862 in three lines within two wreaths of oak leaves and acorns joined with ribbon. Beneath the ribbon the words "Kuner fecit."

"The $10 gold piece, similar in design but smaller in size, the '10' replacing the '20'.

"The coins were of the same diameter and value as United States coins but of unrefined gold of the fineness of 850. The $20 gold piece weighed 546 1-3rd grains and contained about twenty cents worth of silver. Needless to state, those coins are extremely rare."

Eastern Club Gets Friendly

Members of the Union County, New Jersey, Coin Club at their last meeting adopted name card holders as a club policy to promote a first name basis among the members and thus help to get them better acquainted with each other.

On the program was a discussion of the problem of mail transactions and dealer reliability. It was announced that lots for the club auctions would be restricted to 10 per person because of time limitations.

More than 60 members attended the session. Meetings are held the fourth Thursday of the month at 8 p.m. at the Polish National Home, 300 Roselle street, Linden.

Coin Care Topic

Joseph Salinger, vice president of the York, Pennsylvania, Coin Club, was scheduled to be the main speaker at its last meeting, on the subject of "Housing and Care of Coins".

The club meets the third Tuesday at Rutter's Dairy, 2100 North George Street.

several old acquaintances. Letters have come in from Ken Bressett of the Whitman Publishing Company, and H. R. Nelson of Alliance, Ohio. Bressett and I were fellow members of the Franklin County Coin Club, Greenfield, Mass., to the meetings of which I used to commute 50 miles each way every month when we lived in North Adams, Massachusetts. He is now "Numismatic Editor" for Whitman.

Nelson was the man mentioned in my first column who traded Indian cents with us for our buffalo nickels. He was, and presumably still is, a "tree surgeon" in Alliance.

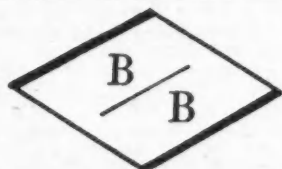

Besides coin collecting, he made a hobby of wood-carving in which he had an enviable skill, (probably no connection between his two kinds of "wood working").

Some of his carvings comprised part of his house as I recall, and still others were most attractive and highly unusual ornaments. I would like to go back and see them and him again.

In last week's column, I was talking about "filling the holes" and trading.

Of course, most of the holes in the recent and current series from cents to halves can be filled out of circulation, your pocket change and rolls from banks, and your friends.

When it comes to the scarcer items or the so-called "key" coins, it is not so easy. However, it can be done, as witness several recent letters printed in Coin World and elsewhere from people who found 1909-S VDB's, 1916-D dimes, and the like. It just requires more looking!

At most of the coin clubs I have belonged to, many of the older members in point of experience would bring a box of duplicates and set it out on a table for the newer ones to check over. The coins were mostly for sale at about half catalog or even less, but could be traded for if the beginner had anything the owners wanted.

In addition, needed coins are frequently put up for auction and, in the average club, will go at a price the beginner can afford, usually between 50 per cent and about 70 per cent of catalog.

Some clubs have trading sessions where members bring coins specifically for trading, with a time set apart in the program for it. Those clubs are usually the ones with a large proportion of beginning collectors. Some clubs, unfortunately, with a great majority of "old timers", do not do much to encourage the newer enthusiasts which sometimes results in discouragement.

We acquired the nucleus of our two-cent collection by trading. At one meeting of the Akron, Ohio, Coin Club, we had a couple of 1951 proof sets on hand (this was in 1951). A member offered us a Whitman folder with five different two-cent pieces in it for one of the proof sets, and we accepted the trade.

We have since filled all but one of the holes, lacking only the 1873 proof, and improving some of the first copies so the folder now looks fairly "respectable". It will probably be some time before we get that 1873, since it catalogues at $150!

However, who knows? We have picked up some proof three-cent coins at club meetings which made our collection of that series look pretty nice, and somebody may come along with an 1873 two-cent piece.

We acquired the second scarcest Morgan silver dollar only a few weeks ago at a convention auction, the 1893-S, in "used" condition, at a very reasonable price, when we had never hoped to see one, let alone own it. So, who knows what may come along next?

While Jimmy and I realize the value of a collection filled with proofs and uncirculateds, and think there is nothing prettier to look at than a B.U. coin, we would rather have a series complete even if some of the coins are "holed", than have only half a series in B.U. and none of the rest of it.

Coin collecting is more fun that way, and the more one gets concerned about the value of a hobby, the less fun there is in it. If, as a dealer, I acquired a batch of coins for sale, I checked my collection first to see if a hole could be filled, before I thought of selling a coin.

Indiana Town Has Coin Show

The Farmland, Indiana, Coin Club held its first annual coin show recently at the Lions Club in Farmland, with more than 700 persons in attendance.

New Store Opens

The Charter Oak Coin Corporation was scheduled to open a new store in Wethersfield, Connecticut, located in the new shopping center at 1071-H Silas Deane highway. Opening date was set for December 3.

Handling both coins and stamps, the new store will also stock numismatic and philatelic books and supplies.

Hartford City, all Indiana, occupied the bourse.

Dr. Harvey E. White was awarded grand champion ribbon in the exhibits, for his display of United States type coins. A highlight of his display, however, was a National Currency note, $5, issued by the bank of Farmland in 1902, serial number 1.

The Farmland club has been organized about one year and has a membership of more than 50, including both senior and junior divisions. Current officers include Harry G. Mills, president; Halbert Cox, vice president, and Ed Smithson, secretary-treasurer.

Meetings are held on the second Wednesday of each month at 7:30 p.m. in the Farmland City building.

Members of the Logansport, Indiana, Coin Club were to hold a banquet in connection with their last meeting.

Scheduled to speak was George Paxton, Indianapolis, professional magician and member of the Indiana State Numismatics Association.

Posthumous Plaque Given

The plaque for top individual honors in the 1960 National Coin Week competition — awarded to Francis Edward Dorsey, of Chicago, who died before he knew he had won—was presented recently to Mrs. Dorsey by Glenn B. Smedley, president of the Chicago Coin Club.

Dorsey's exhibit entered in the American Numismatic Association's contest was on the general subject of Vatican coins and stamps.

The display which was in the Beverly bank at 1357 West 103rd Street, Chicago, consisted of coins and stamps from the period of Pope Pius XII. It was Dorsey's tenth exhibit in the competition.

Dorsey died unexpectedly before the results of the competition were announced last August.

Individual To Get Club Honor

"Numismatist of the Year" of the Evansville, Indiana, Coin Club is to be recognized at the club's Christmas meeting scheduled for Sunday, December 18. Nominations were to have been made at the November session.

In keeping with its Thanksgiving holiday theme, the November program was to be on "Coins of Colonial America", with Bob Suhrheinrich giving an illustrated talk.

The Evansville club is affiliated with the Evansville Museum of Arts and Sciences, and meets on the fourth Sunday afternoon of each month at the Museum, located at 411 Southeast Riverside Drive. Visitors are welcomed.

Women And Money Theme Of Meeting

"Money and Women of the World" was the main topic at a recent meeting of the Osage Coin Club, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Silva of Shidler, Oklahoma, in place of the usual Pawhuska meeting.

Mrs. Jo Nelson told the group that the faces of Queen Victoria and Queen Elizabeth have been on more coins than any other women and have represented more countries.

"Women on our coins" she said, "are not faces of queens or wives of rulers, but the faces that are much more dear to us".

To explain this, she continued that the face of liberty, as she appears on our money, is a constant reminder of what our country means to us. The face on the first small cent, instead of being the face of an Indian, is in reality, the face of the small daughter of the engraver, Mrs. Nelson pointed out.

"It is of further interest to note that the Philadelphia and Denver mints are both managed by women," she continued.

"All of our paper money or currency carries the name of Ivy Baker Priest, treasurer of the United States."

Mrs. Nelson also pointed out that women control the greater part or 90 per cent of the money, is reflected in its currency symbols.

Photographs of the new series and complete description are presented here:

Texas Firm Shows Growth

"We have so much money we're broke" smiles Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Maynard, of Amarillo, Texas, wholesale distributors of coins and stamps over a three-state area. The Maynards have the Coins and Stamps Shop, the Royal Coin Shop and the Angelus Stamp Shop, all in Amarillo.

Maynard began his interest in coins when his truck broke down in Kansas one day. While he waited on repairs, he dropped into a coin shop and bought some coins. He sold them at a profit, and decided it might be a good business.

It has been, declared Maynard.

Reader Reports '60-D Variation

The 1960 Denver Mint nickel may have its varieties, as well as the 1960 Philadelphia which was pictured in Coin World, issue of November 3.

From Lester David Daniel Wilson of Raymond, Kansas, comes the report of a 1960-D nickel described as follows:

"The top of ER in the word liberty connects to the rim; the tail of the 6 connects to the rim, and a curved tail connects the top of the 0 to the rim".

Byzantines Go Wooden

First wooden money probably was issued in the Byzantine empire.

Club Installs New Officers

Andrew Petell was installed as president for 1961 of the Grant County Coin Club at Marion, Indiana, at a recent meeting.

Other new officers included Robert Merkert, vice president; Paul Galyan, secretary, and Mrs. George Earnest, treasurer.

On the program was information on detecting counterfeit currency, displays of coins, a social period, and a trading session.

Warning . . .

boldly left via the front door. Just at dusk, a neighbor saw a man at our back door, and saw lights flickering through the windows. She had heard that we were planning a trip, and she concluded.

(1) The man at the back door was a policeman checking the house, and (2) the lights she saw flickering were reflections of automobile headlights passing the front of the house.

Her conclusions were not illogical. Most people tend to place crime at the bottom of the list when they notice something unusual. Police estimated that entry was made within two minutes and the robbery was completed within ten minutes. Needless to say, although most thieves are not interested in vandalism, they can make quite a mess out of a house.

A fellow collector lost about $5,000 in coins about two weeks later. He had an automatic light switching arrangement for his living room. The burglars simply turned the light off one night and vanished without a clue. This man advertised through a box number only, and very few people knew of his collection.

A. H. Mershon

1367 Jefferson Avenue Railway, N.J.

In these robberies, and many others, the significant trend one should observe is the fact that only coins were stolen. Furs, jewelry, and cameras were left untouched.

What about safes? Surely this would be an ideal place to keep a collection! It is true that safes can be picked up very cheaply second hand. If you want to use one, get the biggest you can find. Safes are often stolen "in toto" and opened at the thieves' convenience somewhere else. A four hundred pound safe offers no problem for resourceful thieves.

These facts explode all the little fallacies we entertain except one: A thief is sure to get caught if he tries to sell a stolen collection. Nothing could be further from the truth. Thieves can not only "fence" old coins, but they know values and will "dicker" for the best price. Most purchasers, either collectors or dealers, are unsuspecting.

The common approach is, "Bill Jones said you might be interested in these proof sets. . . ." Then the big fairy tale begins, and you can only assume that if this man is a friend of Bill Jones, this is sufficient introduction. One collector is played against the other. The coin "fencing" may be done very shrewdly. The thief or fence is not a dumb-bell.

He understands the psychology of the average man, and the desire of everyone to get a bargain. . . but not a big enough bargain to arouse suspicion. Unfortunately, there is also a small minority of collectors and dealers who are not particularly anxious to determine the validity of the seller and his merchandise. The "fence" is also careful not to cross state lines, and invite federal action.

Coin thieves may be divided into three categories:

1. Common vandals or juveniles.

2. Thieves who accidentally find a collection while burglarizing a house.

3. The professional coin thief. (To Be Concluded)

Texans Set Conclave Date

The Texas Numismatic Association will hold its 1961 spring convention in Houston, on April 7-9, with the Greater Houston Coin Club as host, it was announced recently.

Already secured for the meeting is the Shamrock-Hilton Hotel. A. I. Martin, a director of the Houston group, has been named general chairman.

The auction will be handled by Eugene Demko, Columbus, Nebraska, with both mail and floor bids. He is presently compiling material for the auction, with the deadline being January 15. Interested collectors and dealers may contact him at Box 274, Columbus.

Value In Reverse

Three times as many 1883 Liberty or "V" nickels with the word, cents, were minted as the 1883 without the designation, cents, but catalogs about five times more in value, grade for grade.

The Romance of MONEY

By Ted Hammer

This seems to be a year for new records in the sale of coins by government agencies. The supply of 1959 mint sets has been exhausted by the U. S. Treasurer. The sales were halted Aug. 31, at which time some 185,000 sets had been sold. In other recent years, these went on sale in March, but remained available only a few weeks.

A person desiring to buy a 1960 mint set may obtain an application from the office of the treasurer, Washington 25, D. C. Price of the sets has not yet been announced.

A set is comprised of one coin from each mint, a total of $1.82 face value. Thus the cent, nickel, dime, quarter and half dollar of Philadelphia and Denver Mints are provided. The cost was $2.40, including postage and insurance. This year, a buyer could obtain up to 80 sets, while previously, a person could purchase not more than two. Sets bearing dates of the previous year are offered so those totaling 185,000 sets were of 1959.

These coins are uncirculated but the treasurer will not guarantee coins free from blemishes, such as minor scratches. We've received some that were tarnished. Mint sets are not brilliant as are proof sets.

Proof sets are obtained direct from the mint in Philadelphia. A proof set of cent to half dollar (91 cents face value) is sold at $2.10 including insurance and postage. They are delivered only during the year minted.

In the case of mint sets, a supply is made available and when it's exhausted, that's it. The Philadelphia Mint officials try to gauge demands. This year, for instance, they began sending back orders months ago, stating they had all they could fill this year.

Proofs are made only at the Philadelphia Mint, while the mint sets are made at both mints. The mint sets, in fact, are regular coins set aside by the treasury for collectors. A proof has a mirror-like surface, due to rubbing an oily cloth across the polished die just before each coin is struck. The proofs are struck on the medal press. Last year, 1960 proof orders could be sent in as early as December 1, and 1961 orders may be sent any time now.

Buffalo Coin Dealer Featured In Stamp Mag

Joseph L. C. Montesano's retail store for the sale of coins and stamps in Buffalo, New York, was the cover photograph for the November 25 issue of "The Stamp Wholesaler," a stamp trade journal.

The Montesano firm, known as the Saturn Stamp Company, Inc., has a complete line of accessories and supplies for both coin and stamp collectors.

The novel Saturn sign adopted from the familiar picture of the planet is one of the dominant items in the photograph.

Spectators At Missouri Show

Among the crowds at the Greater Ozark Numismatic Association exhibition at the Colonial Hotel, Springfield, Missouri, recently were (left) Mr. and Mrs. Jim Barker, of Branson. Below them, bent over a display of coins is their son, Jimmy, 10. Next beyond them at the table is Carl Travers with his sons, Stanley, 6, and Tommy, 8. Next to Travers is Tom Bruer, of Springfield, president of the association. Stanley Rupert, right, is a San Antonio, Texas, dealer.

Detroit Man Authority On Michigan Bank Notes

Harold L. Bowen, retired Detroit Edison Company engineer, is considered one of the nation's foremost authorities on Michigan State bank notes and banks.

Bowen, who started his research 25 years ago, has written a book on the subject and one of the first buyers was the Smithsonian Institution!

The currency specialist became interested in the hobby through his father, Herbert Bowen, an early Detroit lawyer. The elder Bowen purchased the entire collection of Ford H. Rogers, another hobbyist who became interested in this facet of Michigan banking history in 1853 and started gathering banknotes issues by the fly-by-night banks long before they became almost extinct evidences of an incredible fraud upon unsuspecting merchants.

Since the death of his father, Bowen has been able to add dozens of notes from banks neither Rogers nor the elder Bowen realized existed. They kept turning up in the attics of pioneers bilked years ago and finally uncovered by heirs.

For 25 years Bowen has been searching the country for these mementos. He is confident he now owns at least one original note from every wildcat bank that ever flourished in the shadows of a hectic era.

"But you can't be sure," said the 63-year-old hobbyist. "Every once in a while a new note turns up."

He states in his book that banks came into existence in almost every section of lower Michigan along with others in other states. These early bankers were as frightened of customers trying to redeem the notes as a modern bank is of masked bandits. In that day the bankers were the bandits.

They perfected elaborate methods of discouraging customers who had bought their notes.

One day the president of the Bank of Brest gagged on the news that a Detroit merchant carrying $1,200 in Brest notes was calling to redeem them. Rising to the crisis the president rushed about to buy several bottles of wine.

The Detroitier was greeted like a long lost brother—an occasion that "called for a libation or two." Still trying to figure out how the Detroitier found his bank the president offered toast after toast. The merchant staggered out before getting a chance to state his business.

In the wilds of early Shiawassee County a traveler who thought he was hopelessly lost, was equally as sure he was suffering hallucinations when he staggered upon a building camouflaged by the trees with a sign "Exchange Bank."

This banker was taking no chances of building his edifice in a conspicuous place.

There is history with each of the notes that Bowen owns from more than the 100 "wildcat banks." And being a dedicated researcher, the tall, soft-spoken hobbyist has gathered it along with the checks.

Shortly after passage of the General Banking Law in 1837, banks popped up like mushrooms in a country meadow.

Anyone with imagination could open one. Canny private enterprisers working with little or no capital issued banknotes with all the flurry of a political campaign manager readying a ticker tape parade.

It was when the unwary purchasers of these notes tried to redeem them that early bankers became artful dodgers. They took to the hills.

Strangers were as unwelcome at the old Bank of Battle Creek as weepers at a jolly wake and a system of discouraging them was quickly adopted. Suspecting the strangers might try to redeem a note, the cashier would eye them eagerly and then disappear out the back door while a janitor working on cue commenced singing at the

Old Building Yields Coins

One way to find old coins—tear down old buildings.

When the 71 year old Boston & Main railroad depot at Adams, Massachusetts, was torn down recently, under the woodwork near the ticket window was found an 1885 liberty nickel, and some other coins.

Included in the "loot" were several Indian cents dating to 1875, and a few other odd nickels, exact dates not reported, according to R. M. Wagenknecht of Adams.

Banks Show Numismatic Materials

Banks are increasingly going in for displays of coins, currency and other numismatic material. Among recent exhibitors have been two banks in Illinois, two in New Jersey, and two in South Carolina.

In Illinois the Lawndale National Bank and the Uptown National Bank, both in the Chicago area, have sponsored exhibits.

The Lawndale institution showed Nathan Eglit's collection of presidential campaign badges and medals, while the Uptown displayed counterfeit money and old and unusual coins.

In New Jersey, the Westwood branch of the Peoples Trust Company of Bergen County, and the National Community Bank of Lyndhurst offered displays.

Both banks showed eight frames of currency and three of coins, dating from colonial times to the present, obtained through the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

The South Carolina National Bank in Sumter and the Peoples National Bank in Conway, were the South Carolina Institutions noted.

Both exhibits comprised five panels of coins dating from 1722, and were obtained through the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond, Virginia.

Missourians Choose Name

"The Magnet Coin Club" is the name selected by charter members of the newly organized collectors' group of Monett, Missouri, at its second organizational meeting held recently.

Ernest Langer was chosen president, at the same session. Other new officers included Mrs. E. W. Russey, vice president; Joseph Miller, secretary, and W. G. Kirk, treasurer.

Regular meeting nights were set for the first and third Fridays of each month, at the Monett City Hall, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Poor-Fine . . .

If a given hole was filled, then I checked to see whether the acquired coin was in better condition. If it was, it changed places with the other and that one went on sale.

In short, filling the holes comes first with Jimmy and me, and then improvement. In many cases, the improvement can be simultaneous, of course, but filling the holes is paramount.

Every time I find a coin in circulation, that I think is worth keeping, I check it first against the collection. That has brought a good deal of improvement. Some of our early acquired coins have been replaced a half a dozen times, for example, and in the current series we have very few of the particular coins that first went into the holders.

As a result, our buffalo nickel collection will average close to extra fine, and our Lincoln cents close to AU, with about half in B.U. and most proofs since and including 1938. BUT, we filled the holes first!

Mentioning that AU grade reminds me of something I saw recently (getting slightly away from the subject I have been on): a coin was advertised as grading AU-Unc.

I cannot understand that grading. A coin is Uncirculated or it is not. If it is Almost or About Uncirculated, it cannot be anything but not quite uncirculated, and there is nothing between the two. A collector whom I respect wrote once, "An uncirculated coin has never been out of the bank until the collector got it, and an AU coin has been across the street".

I'll leave that thought with you for this week, remembering of course that "it's a difference of opinion that makes horse races." So, —30— for now.

Fraser Designer

James E. Fraser was the designer of the Buffalo or Indian head nickel, first issued in 1913. His initial is beneath the date on the coin.

Something New! PLASTIC ENVELOPES

Clear polyethylene, pliable and guaranteed not to crack or dry out. These long flap envelopes give maximum protection against chemical action which causes tarnish, spotting, etc. Coins can be displayed without exposure. Made to hold the large size Silver Dollar and most Crowns, but will still fit easily into a 2x2 envelope.

We are now using these for all our Uncirculated and Proof, as well as choice coins. Something collectors and dealers have been needing for years.

St. Pierre Et Miquelon Will Get New Franc Soon

By Gerald A. Willey

St. Pierre et Miquelon, a small French colony located a few miles from the southern coast of Newfoundland, will get in January, 1961, the "nouveau franc" (new franc) as is used in France.

The islands of St. Pierre et Miquelon have been using the CFA franc which is also utilized by some French African colonies. The CFA franc has greater value than the ordinary franc of France.

Total population of the three main islands of the colony, St. Pierre, Miquelon, and Ile aux Marins, is about 4,200. Fishing is the chief occupation of the colony. There is some mink and silver fox raising. St. Pierre is the capital town.

The islands have close ties with France. The local government of the islands prints a newspaper, "Journal Officiel des Iles Saint Pierre et Miquelon," twice a month.

One franc coin of St. Pierre et Miquelon of 1948, made of aluminum.

Before World War II, St. Pierre et Miquelon used coins of 5, 10, 25, and 50 centimes and 5, 10, and 20 francs. Banknotes of 50, 100, 500, 1000, and 5000 francs were in circulation. Some of the banknotes were overprinted "France Libre" (Free French) during the occupation by Free French Forces.

Present coinage consists of pieces of 50 centimes and one and two francs. The one franc coin of 1948 is made of aluminum. There are banknotes of five, 10, 50, 100, 1000, and 5000 francs now in circulation.

tokens took the place of coin which were hoarded and scarce, and passed as money for some time. For further reference, see an advertisement on page 11 of our November 17 issue which offers "Hard Times tokens" under "Low" numbers.

A friend found a peculiar coin while he was walking through a field in England during the last world war. It has some peculiar markings, a bar, and "1289" on one side, and a six pointed star made from three triangles, on the other side. What is it?

Leo De Lucenay, Avilla, Indiana
ANSWER: From the drawing you enclosed, it is identified as a coin of Morocco, minted in the middle 19th century. The date of 1289 is not our calendar. The star is typical of Moroccan coinage and is known as the "Seal of Solomon".

I have a 1912 Newfoundland, King George V, 20 cent coin. It is not registered in the "Numismatic". Is it unique?

Sam Lazich, Sudbury, Ontario, Canada.

ANSWER: Afraid not. It is listed in the Guide book of Canadian coins by Taylor and James, mint-age 350,000 pieces. However, it is the only 20 cent coin issued under George V, in Newfoundland.

Roland Harryman, Baltimore, Maryland, writes that he has come across a 1934 Lincoln cent with the following peculiarities: an apparent double or triple overstamp on the obverse, and a jagged crack from the top to bottom.

COMMENT: Regarding the overstamp, we suggest you contact the Society of Collectors of Numismatic Errors. The crack is probably from a broken planchet. Defective planchets of one sort or another have turned up since the mint began. The value depends on who wants them and how badly. There are four coin clubs in Baltimore and we suggest you get in touch with one or more of them.

Jay Salmon, Salt Lake City, Utah, found a 1960-D cent with the 9 digit missing in a roll of new coins. He wants to know if this has happened before.

COMMENT: This results from a filled die, and is not uncommon, although sometimes the effects are peculiar, like the three-legged buffalo.

"POT LUCK BUYERS"

I want to thank each and everyone that wrote me all about the nice coins they found, and to Mr. Bev. Greenwood, Buffalo, Oklahoma.

Thank you very much for your phone call, I was happy that you were so pleased with your Unc. 1923-S Lincoln, I hope you find a couple more in your other tubes and Mr. Jim Walker of 213 Roosevelt Drive, Greenfield, Indiana, I was very happy that you were so pleased with your coins.

Well I am down in Miami, Fla. with my cigars and Scotch, getting tanned. I will be back around Dec. 12th.

I told you, you can't take anything with you so I'm making sure I won't have anything to take!

Thanks, Ted Ayling, of Sarasota, Florida. I enjoyed your nice letter, and Mr. Jewell Ball of Jackson, Mississippi, thank you very much for sending me a copy of your letter to Coin World. I didn't get one letter that wasn't satisfied, so here I go again.

I have a load of rolls put away for a rainy day. Well, it looks like rain so when I get back around 12/12/60, I will mix all the rolls in a big box and fill up plastic tubes as I surely got a big kick out of the last ad.

You won't find any 1909-SVDB or 1914-D but you will find very good to Unc. 1910-S to 1955-DPS. I have enough to fill orders until Dec. 31st., so this time the sky is the limit. Order as many as you want, I will fill all orders or I will give you a 1923-S Very Fine if I fail to fill your order!

3 TUBES For $10.00 Prepaid

All personal checks will have to clear before I send your order. Money order or cashiers checks get sent out the same day received.

Attendance Boosted By Promotion

Unusual promotion helped the Sterling-Rock Falls, Illinois, Coin Club have an large crowd of more than 1,000 visitors at its recent fifth annual Coin Show, held at the Coliseum.

Special invitations were sent to all the high schools and colleges in more than 40 towns in the area. In addition, banks and industries were notified, and most, including the Sterling bank, provided samples of their products to give away to persons attending the show. The bank offered a small folder with a 1960 Lincoln cent fastened inside.

Other products given away included pounds of nails, six-inch stainless steel rules, bathroom scales, garden hoes, roller skates, anti-freeze, and "many other articles too numerous to mention", most of them local products. In addition, organ music was played by Darold Allen.

The auction conducted by Ray Janusick, Lostant, Illinois, comprised 162 lots, with the high light being a 1928-P silver dollar in B.U. that brought $24, or $1.50 over Redbook.

A number of prizes were awarded during the day, and among the winners were Myrtle Millet, Sycamore; Dorothy Smith, Polo; Jim Krull, Dixon; Larry Faust, Sterling; Gary Andreas, Sterling; Gus Sorbe, Dixon; Ruth MacLennan, Sterling; Mason Allen, Rock Falls; Mrs. C. C. Brandau, Sterling; George Stickle, Tampico, and

A thousand spectators attended the Sterling-Rock Falls, Illinois, Coin Club's fifth annual coin show at the Coliseum. Typical interest is indicated in the absorbed expressions of these visitors who inspected and inquired and shopped with enthusiasm.

Paul Lund, Sterling.

The gold coins were awarded to Harlan Halliburton and Joe Bernardin.

The Sterling-Rock Falls club practices promotion at other times, also. It participates in hobby shows, has a downtown window display during National Coin Week, has displays on loan to each of the Sterling grade schools and the local historical society, and mails post-card reminders to each of its members before monthly meetings, held at the Y.M.C.A.

Mint Invoice Low

The first United States Mint invoice for copper consisted of six pounds, back in the 1700's.

List Grows For Variation

Canadian 1960 nickel varieties are turning up (see Coin World, November 10 issue, page 32). Gilbert A. Gervais, Windsor, Ontario, reports a variation, with two dots below and just to the right of the date.

Out of 1,000 1960 coins examined, he reports about 100 with the two dots.

Numismatic Interest Zooming

Charlie Spencer, Springfield, Missouri, coin dealer, poses here with the tool of his trade—the magnifier—as he examines a series of uncirculated nickels held in a popular album. According to Dealer Spencer, one album manufacturer says his firm has sold 5,000,000 cent albums since World war II as evidence of the fast growth of numismatics. Spencer has a hobby shop in Springfield, on Walnut Street. He says his customers buy and trade the kind of coins he likes to handle and collect himself, proof and uncirculated coins. Spencer says he has "about 100 of what he calls choice customers."

New Manchester Club

A new coin club has been organized at Manchester, Connecticut, meeting at the Whiton Memorial library. The group meets the first Wednesday of each month. Some 90 members and guests attended a recent session.

Bourse Demand Great For Show

Bourse space for the March, 1961, meeting of the Numismatic Association of Southern California has mostly been sold already, in spite of an enlarged bourse according to a report from Karl M. Brainard, Los Angeles, bourse chairman.

Brainard states that many new dealers are filling the spaces that were held by older dealers in past years. He notes that this has been true in many of the conventions he has attended this year, the newer dealers crowding out the older ones.

He ascribes this to the fact that the younger dealer sends in his check for a table early, to assure himself of a good spot in the bourse room, while the older dealer assumes that tradition still holds and that space will automatically be held for him.

Brainard, whose address is 3856 McLaughlin Avenue, Los Angeles 66, warns dealers who may wish bourse space to send in their requests soon.

Public Invited

The Springdale, Arkansas, Legion hut was the scene recently of a coin collectors meeting, open to the general public. A number of collections were on display.

Recent appointments to committees include: Auction, Pete Nuccio, chairman; Leroy Lindblom, Larry Baird, Mary Lou Meece, John Ed Hackleman and Pete Cunningham; publicity, Allen Kellogg, chairman; Dean Ziegler, Danny Curry, P.O. Fogerson and Mary Frahm.

Continental Currency Is Monument To Early Grief

Numismatists have little trouble imagining a disillusioned, disgruntled be-wigged early American merchant slamming down a flimsy note and muttering:

"It's not worth a continental!"

This familiar phrase, coined in disgust at the depreciation—99 per cent, in fact—of the continental currency, has remained through the years as a monument to the days of troubled financial waters for the new nation.

The colonists had few inhibitions about issuing currency—in fact they were often forced to in order to pay the soldiers. And as soon as an issue depreciated to the point that it became thoroughly discredited it would be re-deemed at a percentage and a new issue with new promises would be printed.

The continental congress, its back to the wall, had no choice but to issue the infamous currency—it had no power to impose taxes, but there was a war to be waged. So, on June 22, 1775, the first issue was authorized in denominations from $1 to $20 in the amount of two million dollars.

It read: "This bill entitles the bearer to receive—Spanish milled dollars, or the value thereof in gold or silver, according to the resolution of the congress, held at Philadelphia on the 10th day of May, A. D., 1775."

The notes were numbered in ink and bore dual signatures. No terms of redemption were fixed, but congress pledged the faith of the colonies to such redemption. One pronouncement of this faith read:

"... that any person who shall hereafter be so lost to all virtue and regard to his country as to refuse to receive said bills in payment, or obstruct and discourage the currency or circulation thereof, and shall be duly convicted... shall be deemed, published and treated as any enemy of his country, and precluded from all trade or intercourse with the inhabitants of those colonies."

A second issue of a million dollars was authorized in July, and at this time congress apportioned the liability for the total issue to the several colonies in proportion to the estimated population. Under this act the redemption of the currency was to be provided for in four installments beginning in 1799. In November another three million dollar issue was voted.

For a time the notes were generally received without objections, but early in 1776 difficulties began to arise, although issue figures spiraled. In 1776 congress authorized the issue of 19 million; in 1777, 13 million more, for a total of 38 million. The states had also issued 10 million.

Continental Currency

Congress recommended state taxation, tried to borrow money, but still found it must issue 63 and a half million dollars worth of currency in 1778. In 1779 the issue had exceeded 140 million. The total had reached over 241 million, although a 200-million limit had been resolved, with 20 million dollars worth of local issues to add to the figure.

There was so much counterfeiting and accelerated depreciation that by the end of 1779 the official rating to coin was about 100 to three and a half.

Finally, congress stopped the issuance, but the states continued on their merry way until the currency reached a volume of $150 per capita. Continental notes were quoted at 500 to one in ratio to coin value.

A large loan from France probably saved the embryo government from dissolution, and by 1781 the currency merry-to-round had stopped, but not before $200,000,000 had been issued!

Congress provided for the redemption of the notes in 1790 if the notes were presented before September 30, 1791; this time limit was extended through December 31, 1797.

It is probable that those who received the notes in the later years of the Revolution suffered no loss in having them redeemed in coin at the ratio of 100 to one; the notes had been depreciated to a ratio of 225 to one in coin in 1781.

Club Forms At Natchez Y.

Natchez, Mississippi, has a new coin club, formed recently among members of the Y.M.C.A. The club expects to meet weekly for discussion and coin trading.

James McFarlane was named president at the organizational meeting. Any member of the Y.M.C.A. is eligible and invited to join.

So far as is known, this is the first coin collectors' club to be formed in Natchez, and the sixth in the state of Mississippi.

Toledo Club In Stage Of Formation

A new club for Toledo, Ohio, coin collectors was to have its initial organization meeting on Wednesday evening, December 7, at the West Toledo Y.M.C.A., 202 Tremainsville Road, according to a report from Robert R. Browne of Toledo who is helping to form the group.

It is planned to have monthly meetings on the first Wednesday, with all interested persons invited to attend.

Letters . . .

about a crusade for correct advertising? I have written to a few of your advertisers in regard to misleading statements in past ads, but now I feel there is one for you.

Under medals, No. 130, the fourth ad is "now offering official Hawaiian statehood medals, bronze, $4; silver, $30; gold, $850, 15 cents postage, please."

The silver medal, and most likely the gold, must have been sold out a long time ago, and yet you continue this ad week after week and this company must have refunded a mint of money on this "perpetual" ad.

If you can secure a Hawaiian sterling silver medal at $30.15, I'll send you $35.15 to extend my subscription another two years. Many ads also state, "no personal checks!" It's so much easier to return money orders or cashier's checks.

Anyway, let's tell these dealers or collectors to cancel out immediately when items are sold out or nearly so.

George Stevenson
Danville, Illinois

May I congratulate you on your excellent paper, it was good at the start and getting better every week.

I notice criticism in letters to the editor in your November 10 issue about small, medium and large date cents. Frankly, I cannot understand this opinion. As a newspaper, it is your obligation to print today's news today. I believe this is just what you have been doing.

Certainly these cents have been hot numismatic items this year, probably will not be in the future. I am not a penny collector but still enjoy reading about these coins. I particularly liked your illustration on how to distinguish these dates.

J. A. Fischer
Portland, Oregon

I've only been a subscriber to your publication for a couple of weeks but have already made many deals with the advertisers. I'd also like to report finding a 1916-D dime in circulation in VG condition. This coin cost me a quarter, but the boy about to put it in a vending machine didn't mind making 15 cents. Congratulations on a fine newspaper.

R. Craig Fleming
Detroit, Michigan

As I have been a charter member of Coin World, I feel many people would like to hear about sentences handed down to coin thieves.

You always have a very informative paper and I know all subscribers thoroughly enjoy each page. But one thing seems to be missing when you mention coin thefts and that is "the consequences that these thieves receive."

In my opinion they should be given harshest sentences. . . . . know your subscribers would like to know that crime doesn't pay, especially against coin collectors!

C. E. Reedy
Lancaster, Pennsylvania
Reader Reedy helped this cause by enclosing a clipping about the sentencing of a convicted Lancaster coin thief—EDITOR.

Attached you will find an ad which appeared in our local Sunday newspaper. It probably also appeared in every major newspaper in the country.

This type of advertising, in my opinion, is next to fraudulent. Every reader of this ad with any old coins at all is going to think he is a millionaire. It seems to me this corporation is trying to sell catalogs rather than buy coins.

I can quickly imagine the disappointment of the hundreds of thousands of people that will send for this catalog. This is definitely not advantageous to the hobby of numismatics.

Please notice the ad says they will pay up to $2,000 for Indian head pennies. There is no such cent listed in the current "Red Book".

There is probably little or nothing that can be done about this sort of thing, but I think it should be brought to their atten-

Token Slides
Shown To Club

More than 90 members and guests of the Vancouver, British Columbia, Coin Club saw colored slides of British Columbia transportation tokens at their November meeting held at the Kerrisdale Community Center.

The slides were the work of Larry Gingras who gave a running commentary which provided local color for the varieties of tokens.

Among the guests was Gordon Macrow, a collector from Australia.

tion that the coin collectors of America do not approve of such tactics. What do you think?

Earl E. Yingling
Albuquerque, New Mex.

Your paper noted that bullet coins were so shaped to aid gamblers in rolling their losses across the game circle. Granted this shape coin aided the gambler it is doubtful that the kingdom bothered to make coins just to expedite gambling even though gambling was not frowned upon.

These coins were handmade by a very tedious process and stamped with various marks of royal and historic significance. I find no mention of marks that would indicate they were so shaped to aid the national pastime.

That they were used by gamblers to pay their debts is verified in Ramsden's Siamese Porcelain and Other Tokens. He states that the bullet coins were difficult to keep in bounds when thrown across the gambling mats. The government granted permission to the gambling houses to make and use tokens which were shaped so as to be more easily confined.

LeMay in his book on Coinage of Siam does not find evidence to support a positive statement concerning why bullet coins were so shaped. The theory that these round coins were more compact when bagged to be shipped by river boats seems logical.

When you consider that the very early bullet coins were fashioned so that they had holes for stringing, you face another practical reason. The same one that caused the old coins of Japan and China to be holed.

"As a collector of memorabilia of old Siam, I would like to know what authority was used. This is not to quibble, but to help me get my data correct.

I do enjoy the articles and numismatic tid-bits. Thanks for making me think!!

The U.S.S. Enterprise Medal, 1960

This new Medal will be issued on or about December 11, 1960

Coin and Currency Institute, Inc.

Here is the official medal to commemorate the recent launching of our Navy's newest ship, the U.S.S. Enterprise—the largest ship in the world and the first nuclear powered aircraft carrier. Struck by the renowned Medallion Art Company, this finely executed medal shows the Enterprise on the obverse and the insignia of the U.S. Navy and the ship's builders on the reverse. The medal is being struck in bronze as well as in pure silver of better than .999 fineness. The issue of the silver medals is limited to 5000 serially numbered pieces. Both the bronze and silver medals are a large 2 1/2" in diameter and are being issued in boxes with an educational, informative leaflet.

Almost Everyone Prefers America's First Family of Coin Albums

THE LIBRARY OF COINS

By Any Standard, Still The Best!

Complete visibility and complete protection, the two most-wanted features of a coin album, are presented for the first time by THE LIBRARY OF COINS. Bound like books, handsome and compact, each Library of Coins volume displays and protects its coins between two sliding panels of clear, tough plastic. Each coin "porthole" has printed next to it full data on mint mark and quantity minted. Each volume contains a brief background story on the coins, giving both the novice and advanced collector helpful information, including a listing of the rare dates.

Measuring 8 1/4" x 6 1/4", the volumes are low priced, sturdily manufactured, and permanently bound in a variety of identifying colors for the various denominations. Their compact size permits the storing of a large coin collection in very small space. Backbones are clearly gold stamped so that they are as readily identifiable as are books.

The Library of Coins represents the first major innovation in high grade coin albums in more than 30 years, and was several years in development. Designed by numismatists, the Library of Coins is designed to satisfy the needs and desires of numismatists. Write for descriptive circular on the Library of Coins.
